

Intern for Agro-economics in Cologne

With focus in Food Value Chain and Sustainable Agriculture

Entrepreneurial approach & Food-Chain experience, make the difference

ELFIN GmbH is a consultancy company specialized, among others, in agricultural projects, with focus on Food-Value-Chain (from farmer to retailer) and sustainable agriculture. We support all corporate levels of multinational companies in the agricultural sector in the creation and implementation of innovative concepts in the interface between business and agriculture (e.g. traceability systems, collaborative partnerships and marketing, training- and certification concepts). We combine powerful consultancy concepts with agricultural expertise in the Food Value Chain to deliver to our clients effective solutions for growth, increasing profitability and customer satisfaction, and realize them professionally, with expertise and deep sector understanding.

We would like to hire a student/graduate with focus on Food-Value-Chain and practical experience according to your tasks (see below) as intern to expand our team in Cologne as soon as possible.

Your tasks – You are part of a project team for analysis, conceptualization and implementation of:

- › Business strategies and models
- › Organizational design, business process development and optimization
- › Transformation concepts
- › Development of training concepts for sustainable agriculture
- › Sustainable increase of profitability and growth

Your profile – Ideally you have:

- › A bachelor/master or degree in agricultural studies or you are matriculated in agricultural studies at university and have already done at least 3 semesters with good grades
- › General business knowledge: strategy, organization, marketing and project management
- › Analytical and problem solving skills
- › Understanding and enthusiasm for agricultural topics
- › High motivation, personal responsibility and entrepreneurial approach
- › Good understanding of IT and excellent knowledge of Excel and Power Point
- › Very good written and spoken English knowledge (International experience or internship, Native speakers also welcomed)

We offer:

- › Exciting projects in the agricultural sector with focus in food chain management and sustainable agriculture
- › A fructuous working environment to develop your personal skills
- › A friendly corporate culture and participation on everyday decisions
- › Multinational companies as clients
- › Daily table football training

The internship lasts at least 12 Weeks. During the internship you will have a mentor that will follow your work and give you regular feedback to develop your professional skills. We also consider the possibility of a cooperation with your Bachelor or Master Thesis so as the possibility of promotion to Junior Consultant after finishing your studies.

If you wish to be a part of our team please send your complete application per email to the following address:

Michael Braun
Managing Director

Michael.Braun@elfin.de